

BRITAIN AND SOVIET REPORTED IN ACCORD ON MOVE FOR POLITICAL SECURITY SYSTEM

RELIEF PICTURE BRIGHTENS IN U. S. AS COSTS DECLINE

Decrease of 1,284 in Number Receiving Aid Reported by Georgia for February as Result of "Better Conditions."

OTHER SECTIONS REPORT PROGRESS

Number Aided in Florida Lowest Since Government Unlimbered Guns on Depression.

By the Associated Press.
Brighter tones colored the relief picture as nine states today disclosed a downward trend in the cost of caring for the needy or in the total number of those aided.

Even more hopeful prospects for the next few months were visualized by relief officials in these and several other states.

The Florida Emergency Relief Administration declared that although expenditures in March equaled those in February, fewer persons received aid than in any month since the federal government unlimbered its heaviest guns against the depression.

Jerome A. Connor, assistant administrator, estimated that some 240,000 persons were helped in March. Figures on relative relief costs were not made known, the expenditure, officials said, depending entirely upon the size of the federal grant. Virtual termination of the tourist and citrus seasons was expected to cloud Florida's relief picture somewhat in April.

In Georgia, a decrease of 1,284 in relief clients in February, unusual in what was considered a peak month, was attributed to "better conditions."

In Maryland, many who were unemployed through the winter are finding jobs on farms and in canning factories, now entering their season. Although definite figures were not available, it was said the burden was being appreciably lightened.

Costs and the case load have diminished in Texas since the first of the year, officials said, and they looked for a further drop in April. These figures were released: January, $2,329,000; case load, 278,216; February, $2,042,000; case load, 270,000; March (estimates), $1,500,000; case load, 262,000. The April case load was estimated at 250,000 with a corresponding reduction in expense.

Officials said the reductions were due to economies in relief administration, to weeding out unworthy recipients, normal declines with the passing of a severe winter and an increase in farm labor.

From other states came these reports: South Carolina—March allotment was $208,000 as compared with $113,200 in February.

Ohio—The state's relief budget for March was $9,953,193, as against $10,570,748 in February.

Massachusetts—March expenditures were a trifle lower than February's, and prospects for an April reduction were poor.

Relief requirements in April were estimated at $13,282,166, approximately a million dollars less than the March needs.

New York—A sharp seasonal decline in April was expected.

Arkansas—Administrator W. R. Dyer predicted the load will lessen in April due to return of migrant families to agricultural pursuits. The rural rehabilitation program has taken between 15,000 and 20,000 families off the rolls.

748 Indian Babies Wed, Some Can't Even Walk BOMBAY, India, March 31.—(AP)—

Their children are blankly bewildered and their bare feet fretfully chafing the grass, 374 infant couples were married today in a meadow near the small village of Kathiwar.

It was the largest mass child marriage ceremony held in India in many years.

Some of the brides and bridegrooms were mere infants in arms, whose parents had arranged their future lives for them in accordance with Indian customs centuries old.

Many of the babies too small to walk slept in the arms of their elders, while the latter said "I do" for them. Other gurgled happily, at the booming of gun salutes which were a part of the elaborate ceremony.

NEW RELIEF SMARL PUT BEFORE F. D. R. BY HOUSE LEADERS

Word Awaited From President on Opposition To Direct Labor Expenditures Amendment.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—(AP)—Congress today awaited definite word from President Roosevelt on what he wants done to untangle the latest snarl over the $4,880,000,000 relief bill.

Democratic leaders said privately that Mr. Roosevelt opposes the controlled currency amendment requiring that 33-1-3 per cent of advances on non-federal projects be paid for direct labor. This was written in during the conference on the measure.

But information as to whether he would be willing to accept the provision to get the long-delayed measure through was lacking and leaders today said they wanted direct word from the president before taking action.

An expression of the chief executive's opinion, Speaker Byrnes said, was expected before the house adjourns today. The long-delayed measure, which would be a direct labor amendment, is being pushed by the administration.

The senate conferees, headed by Senator Glass, democrat, Virginia, who is opposed to the bill, were said by an administration senate leader today to be unwilling to yield.

POWER CAPACITY SHORTAGE IN U. S. TERMED CRITICAL

Situation Would Be Disastrous in Event of War, Survey by Government Discloses.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—(AP)—A "critical" shortage of electric power production capacity that would "be disastrous if the United States should become involved in war," was reported today in the first official national power survey.

Made by the Federal Power Commission at the direction of President Roosevelt, the survey indirectly supported the administration's contention that there is need for such development as Boulder dam and the Tennessee Valley Authority.

"The critical shortage of existing generating capacity most seriously affects the great industrial districts of the east and middle west," the report said. "It would, therefore, be disastrous in case the United States should become involved in war. The situation might be even more acute than that which existed during the World War when, in many districts, electric service had to be denied to domestic and commercial customers and non-essential industries to meet war needs for power."

Other conclusions reached from the study include:

- The use of electricity for domestic purposes as well as in certain branches of industry has grown at such a rate during the depression that, upon a resumption of normal industrial activity, the demand for power will be at least 4,000,000 kilowatts in excess of that which the 1929-1930 production capacity of the country could supply.

Very little large generating capacity has been constructed by the privately-owned utilities since 1929. As a result, the capacity of existing plants is 2,325,000 kilowatts less than the demand for power upon a resumption of normal industrial activity, assuming maintenance of normal reserve capacity.

The shortage is being rapidly accentuated by the obsolescence of plants which would have been replaced under normal conditions. As of January 1, 1935, 58 per cent of the total installed steam-electric capacity of the United States was at least 10 years old, 11 per cent was 20 years old or older, and about 2 per cent at least 25 years old. Inefficient and obsolete plants with a capacity of at least 2,000,000 kilowatts should be replaced.

INJURED IN CRASH, GIRL NEAR DEATH

Miss Edna Hendricks, 25, Hurt in Alabama as Automobile Leaves Road.

Miss Edna Hendricks, 25, daughter of P. H. Hendricks, former city electrician, was believed near death Sunday in a hospital in Anniston, Ala., as the result of injuries she received Saturday afternoon when her car was driving overturned on the highway.

Her skull was fractured and she was injured internally. Her mother, Mrs. P. H. Hendricks, who was riding with her, was not seriously hurt. She was admitted to the hospital for treatment for cuts and bruises.

The steering gear of the automobile suddenly broke while Miss Hendricks was driving at approximately 40 miles an hour on the highway two miles from Anniston, it was said. The car veered off the road, hit a bank, and turned over.

Doctors at the Garner hospital in Anniston said Miss Hendricks had only a slight chance to live. She received a deep fracture near the base of her skull, a serious gash in her left side, and her left arm was badly cut.

She is employed as secretary to an official of the First National bank, and resides with her parents at 928 Hemphill avenue. Her father was city electrician for many years and now heads the Hendricks Electric Company.

Boy, 13, Shot in Chest; Uncle Is Under Arrest

A 13-year-old boy was in a serious condition at Grady hospital Sunday night with a bullet wound in the chest and his uncle was being held by police, charged with the shooting.

Marcellus Gunnells, 33, of 1225 Matthews street, S. W., was shot, according to police reports when a 25-caliber automatic pistol in the hands of his uncle, Charles M. Brown, of 900 Murphy avenue, alleged to have been drinking, was discharged.

At the city jail where Brown was being held, he said he did not know how the shooting occurred. He said he and his nephew were bending over the pistol in the backyard of the Gunnells home Sunday afternoon when the gun was discharged. He said his nephew, for whom he professed a great fondness, screamed that he had been shot.

Disease Immunity Substances Are Successfully Isolated

Accidental Discovery Lifts Curtain to Vistas of Vast Alleviation of Man's Ills Through Action in Blood Stream.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 31.—(AP)—Isolation for the first time in pure crystalline form of one of the so-called "immune bodies," the little-understood substances which promote immunity to disease, was announced tonight at Cornell University.

The discovery is of intense scientific interest because it may lead to advances in the study of the phenomenon of immunity, the process underlying body resistance.

The newly isolated substance is a hemagglutinin (something which causes red blood cells to stick together) extracted from the jack bean. These are large, white beans from a common fodder crop. The hemagglutinin was found by Professor James B. Sumner and Stacey F. Howell, Ph.D., of the Medical College of Cornell at Ithaca.

The substance is a crystalline protein. It forms double wedge-shaped, colorless crystals. It acts in some unknown way on red blood corpuscles to cause their sticking.

The pure material, even when diluted 10,000,000 times, causes perceptible agglutination of dog and cat red blood cells. It has much less effect on man, where dilution is only 100 to 1,000 times. Cow and sheep blood react to it like man's.

Agglutination is one of the tests for blood transfusions. When blood of two persons is not of the same type, one causes agglutination in the other and cannot be used for transfusion.

This agglutination of cells is one of the body's defense mechanism against infection. It is a process the body employs to fight certain germs. Immunity to typhoid is an illustration.

The mysterious agglutinin produced by injection of the typhoid bacteria causes the typhoid germs to stick together. The belief is that when the typhoid germs are thus bunched it is easier for the white blood cells to destroy them.

3D PARTY THREAT LAID TO PRESIDENT

Long Charges Roosevelt Made Statement To Compel Nomination.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—(AP)—Senator Huey P. Long tonight declared that President Roosevelt "gave us a much better idea of his attitude toward the 3D party candidate if the 1935 convention failed to nominate him."

Long challenged the president to deny it.

Longing both the others in the debating triumvirate, Father Charles E. Coughlin and Hugh S. Johnson, Long concentrated in his speech over the radio on the 3D party in the United States. He said the 3D party was the "Principle Charming administration" and the "Bible Bazaar government."

The bulk of his talk, however, was given over to expounding his "share-the-wealth" plan.

He mentioned as a possible head of a third party presidential ticket in 1936 Louis Brandeis.

Style Revue Will Be Part Of O. S. S. Cooking School

The second annual Quality Service Stores cooking school, which will open Tuesday at the Georgia theater, will include a style revue sponsored by one of Atlanta's leading women's apparel shops.

Because of the nearness of Easter, it was deemed advisable to display for the hundreds of women who will attend the cooking school the latest in spring and summer fashions, and in consequence the Darling Shop will present a complete line of 1935 fashions, modeled by seven charming young women.

Plans for the cooking school have been completed, Miss Viola Decker, home economics expert of the Edison General Electric Appliance Company, having arrived in Atlanta Saturday, two days ahead of schedule, in order to have everything in readiness for the demonstration.

The cooking school will be held four days, opening at 9 o'clock each morning. Doors of the Georgia theater will open at 8 o'clock, and the Darling Shop will present a 15-minute style revue each of the four mornings from 8:45 to 9 o'clock.

Miss Naomi Horowitz, stylist of the Darling Shop, will be in charge of the presentation of a full line of 1935 modes, ranging from the lines

COUNCIL SANCTION OF MOSQUE DEAL EXPECTED TODAY

White Predicts Approval of Purchase of Huge Shrine Building by Overwhelming Vote.

Final ratification of the proposal to take over the Shrine mosque and Fox theater properties for use as a municipal auditorium is the major matter facing city council this afternoon.

Councilman John A. White, chairman of council's public buildings committee, predicted Sunday that the program will be approved by an overwhelming vote and that the magnificent structure will pass into the hands of the city.

Under the agreement to be offered this afternoon, and which has been concurred in by City Attorney Jack C. Savage and lawyers representing bondholders, owners of the properties, the city is not asked to pledge any city funds or even the moral obligation of the city to pay for the structure.

Amortization of the $725,000 purchase price, payment of interest on bonds which will be issued, operation and maintenance of the building will be carried for from proceeds of the sale of the properties, the agreement recites. Attorneys believe that the courts will not allow a successful attack to be launched against consummation of the agreement and have so stated.

All expense incident to completion of the transfer of the properties will be borne by present owners, and White resorted Sunday that the city will not be asked to put up a cent.

Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon, proponent of the plan to open a series of municipally operated dispensaries, will ask council to abrogate an ordinance passed in 1927 and to facilitate signing of a petition asking a referendum on the liquor store plan.

At the present time, the ordinance makes it mandatory that those wishing to sign the petition, asking for an election on the measure permitting Mayor Key to operate the store, do so in the office of City Clerk J. H. Newton. If McCutcheon is successful in his attempt the provision making the signing in Newton's office mandatory will be rescinded, and the petition may be signed anywhere and filed with the clerk.

A determined opposition is slated to develop to the McCutcheon move from those who think pressing of the

BYSTANDER SHOT IN PISTOL AFFRAY

Philip Groover, 21, in Critical Condition; Two Brothers Are Arrested.

Philip Groover, 21, of 971 Fair street, S. E., an innocent bystander, was in a critical condition Sunday night at Grady hospital with a bullet wound in his right chest.

Groover, according to police reports, was struck by a stray bullet fired during an altercation between H. A. Lancaster, of 6 Bennett street, and J. S. Spivey, of 968 Manigault street, S. E., said to have been over the purchase price of an automobile. During the heat of the argument, according to the police report, Lancaster drew a .38-caliber revolver and fired at Spivey, the bullet missing Spivey but striking Groover as he stepped out of a restaurant at 962 Fair street.

Witnesses told police that Lancaster and his brother, O. L. Lancaster, 18, of 235 Georgia avenue, S. E., then jumped into an automobile and fled. R. F. Paschall arrived at the restaurant where Groover was shot. Spivey gave them a revolver which he said Lancaster had thrown away following the shooting. The Lancaster brothers were arrested when they drove around to the restaurant later and were held on a charge of suspicion of shooting at another.

A recently fired .45-caliber revolver and a blackjack were found in the Lancaster automobile, the policemen reported.

Barbara Not To Mingle In Reno's Night Life

RENO, March 31.—(AP)—Visions of Princess Barbara Hutton Midvini remaining a voluntary prisoner in her attorney's rambling old home and sequestering Reno's famed night life during her six weeks here were conjured up today by the divorce colony.

There was no sign of activity at the residence—that of George B. Thatcher, her Reno attorney—today, 24 hours after the princess' arrival by airplane from New York to establish residence for a divorce from her royal husband, Alexis, prince of Trans-Caucasian Georgia.

Sources close to her attorneys said she had employed two servants and would take her meals in the Thatcher home, remaining there with her stepmother, Mrs. Franklyn Hutton. It was said she would not mingle with the night club crowd.

ETHIOPIA DEMANDS ACTION BY LEAGUE; NEW CRISIS LOOMS

GENEVA, March 31.—(AP)—Ethiopia has flatly demanded arbitration of her deep trouble with Italy, appealing to the League of Nations under article 15 of the League covenant, which authorizes the League council to intervene, authoritative quarters affirmed today.

A new crisis has been reached in the dispute, complicating the already tense European situation, authorities said, because it is anticipated Italy will refuse to accept League intervention.

Ethiopia's grounds for the new demand are that direct negotiation has failed.

Once before Ethiopia appealed under Article 15 of the covenant, and Italy contended the article was inapplicable and that the dispute could be settled under the existing Italo-Ethiopian treaty of friendship.

Indications of the uneasiness caused in League of Nations circles at this development were seen in the fact that telephone conversations were held tonight with the various European capitals.

League officials refused either to confirm or deny receiving a note, but the Journal Des Nations here said a note from Addis Ababa demanded that the League immediately appoint a commission of arbitration.

(Dispatches from Addis Ababa yesterday said Ethiopia had broken off direct negotiations with Italy over colonial boundary disputes, taking precautions to protect foreigners from possible hostilities, and had sent a note to the League.)

Italy recently announced she would accept the institution of an arbitration commission after possibilities for direct negotiations had been exhausted.

The Ethiopian-Italian treaty provides for a commission of conciliation composed of two Ethiopians and two Italians. The League is to be notified by the commission as it proceeds with arbitration.

ROME, March 31.—(AP)—A distinct cooling of the British attitude toward Italy's activities in east Africa growing out of the Ethiopian controversy was causing heated discussion in government circles today.

A treaty, it appears, has hobbled up, treaty signed in 1926 between England, Italy and France guaranteeing the independence of Ethiopia as the only remaining African kingdom.

The moment Italian troops left for Africa there was a noticeable cooling of the British attitude, according to diplomatic authorities here and a note of opposition crept into the British press.

Then followed interviews between Sir John Simon, British foreign minister, and Italian Ambassador Dino Grandi at London, and between Mussolini and Sir Eric Drummond, British ambassador in Rome.

Starhemberg Drives For Austrian Regency

VIENNA, March 31.—(UP)—Vice Chancellor Prince Ernst Rudiger von Starhemberg opened his campaign tonight to become officially recognized head of Austria with the prerogatives of regent.

The first move in von Starhemberg's drive to restore the monarchy and put another Hapsburg on the throne of Austria came when he reasserted his claim that his personally organized Heimwehr (home guards) be recognized as holding the dominant position in the nation's affairs.

The move followed renewed monarchist activity in Austria in recent months, with practically the tacit approval of Chancellor Kurt von Schuschnigg, himself an avowed monarchist.

EDEN WILL SEEK WARSAW'S HELP IN SECURITY PLAN

London Hears Berlin Is Likely To Call 8,500,000 Men for Training; 580,000 Youths Will Report Today.

LUDENDORF SLATED TO LEAD 'DEFENSE'

Geneva Is Alarmed by Reports of Germany's Massing of Troops in Area Near Memel.

By the Associated Press.
An Anglo-Russian agreement that European nations should proceed with their plans of building up a security system against war as outlined in London was announced yesterday in Moscow.

Observers interpreted a communiqué issued at the conclusion of talks between Captain Anthony Eden, Britain's lord privy seal, and Soviet leaders as meaning they would proceed with security plans regardless of Germany's stand, but that the reich is welcome to enter them.

Eden left Moscow for Warsaw, where he will attempt to secure Polish co-operation in the pact. Other developments in the European situation included:

LONDON—British press reports said Germany is likely to call 8,500,000 men up for training under the military conscription plan and that 580,000 youths of the class of 1915 will report tomorrow for medical examinations.

GENEVA—Polish press reports that German troops were massing near the Memel territory worried Geneva.

KAUNAS, Lithuania—Police sprayed fire hoses to quell a demonstration against Germany by 4,000 Lithuanian students. The students attempted to storm the German legation.

LYON, France—Edouard Herriot, former premier and now minister without portfolio, expressed regret at the "broken bonds" with the United States over debts, now that Germany is trying "to dislodge the war allies."

VIENNA—The semi-official press expressed alarm at the cordial Russian-English talks, warning all nations that the soviet is dangerous and plans a world revolution.

Newton Plays Modern Materialism In Talk to 1,000 Fathers and Sons

"Atlanta will live as long as we have people here who do justly, love mercy, and walk humbly with God," asserted Dr. Louis D. Newton in a sermon Sunday afternoon to more than a thousand men who came through the rain to attend a meeting for fathers and sons, held at the Druid Hills Baptist church under the auspices of the Men's Bible class of that church.

Hugh H. Altman, chairman of the committee on arrangements for the meeting, presided. Alfred C. Newell, prominent insurance executive and lay leader in the First Methodist church, read the scripture lesson. Morgan Blake, lead the prayer. E. E. Green, president of the class, led the congregational singing. M. E. Coleman offered the closing prayer.

The Emory University Glee Club, under the direction of Dr. Malcolm H. Dewey, sang and the Salvation Army band provided special musical numbers. Elbert Adams was the guest orator.

Prominent business and professional men from neighboring towns were present. The audience was composed of men from every walk of life throughout Atlanta, representing every church affiliation and some members of no church. A number of fathers brought their sons.

"Jeremiah was given the difficult task of warning Jerusalem against her certain doom unless the people repented of their sins and walked in the ways of the Lord," said Dr. Newton. "The prophet did not seek the role, but was commanded of God to tell the people that the nation that forgets God shall surely die. He commanded Jeremiah to plead with the people to turn from their evil ways before they brought down upon themselves the certain penalty of death.

"Not one man could be found in all Jerusalem that did justly and sought the truth, not one; and thus the effort of God to warn the people and to save the people went for naught, and their captivity followed as the inescapable judgment which they knowingly brought upon themselves. There was not one sound piece of moral tissue in the body corporate. From the king on his throne to the denizen in the lanes, corruption and fraud held sway.

"Oaths were lightly spoken and as lightly broken, contrasts were repudiated, family life was corrupted, friendships were exploited, honor was dead. Treachery, gluttony, adultery, with every other kind of excess, ran riot in the heart of a city that was hurrying to its doom. Men had lost sight of principles and were willing to become slaves of persons and parties.

Materialism Destroyed All.
"The fallacy of the people of Jerusalem centered in the proposal of the devil that he may take who has the power and he may keep who can. Materialism, thus released from the restraints of religion, brought to destruction not only the leaders, but the masses as well. The yoke of serfdom was placed upon a whole people because they forgot God."

"Let us open our eyes to the lesson of this tragic story of old. God is looking for honest men today, even as He looked for an honest man in Jerusalem of old. He is walking upon the walls of Atlanta, examining the hearts of the men of our day, seeking out any who will do justly and love mercy and walk humbly with Him. We may fill our banks with money, our stores with merchandise, our barns with grain, our pantries with choicest breads and meats, but unless our hearts are attuned to the will of God, our city is doomed and our civilization is perishing."

tion will go down with all the other nations that have forgotten God. "There are too many men in Atlanta who will dare to violate the law, to steal that which belongs to others, to exploit the rights of childhood to insure the city against the future. I beg you as fathers and husbands and God-fearing citizens to go forth from this place bound in the covenant of unswerving commitment to the will of God in your personal lives, in your homes, in your business and professional relationships in your leisure and in your worship."

"Thus may we give guarantee to Atlanta's right to live among the cities of earth as she lays deep and strong foundations of faith and hope and love—faith in God and our fellowman, hope in the triumph of right over wrong, love one for another as the abiding token of fellowship between man and God."

PATMAN BILL SUPPORT IS SOUGHT BY MELTON

ATHENS, Ga., March 31.—(AP)—Major Quincy Melton, of Griffin, Ga., vice commander of the American Legion, today called on Legionnaires to support the Patman bill for immediate cash payments to the soldiers' families. Speaking at the dedication of the Allen R. Fleming American Legion post's new community center here today, Melton declared, "I agree with many that the bonus is not due—it is long overdue."

Vice Commander Melton said that after payment of the bonus the Legion would continue its program as before. The exercises were presided over by D. Weaver Bridges, past commander of the local post. The dedication took place in the soldiers' log cabin on the project for which the Legionnaires have worked for several years. The community center and playground is being constructed with funds from the local post, public subscriptions, the city of Athens, and the national government.

The post hopes for completion of the swimming pool and other playground facilities by June 1. Vice Commander Melton urged organization of an association of Sons of Veterans, saying this is necessary to continue the Legion policies.

COLUMBUS LEGIONNAIRES
COLUMBUS, Ga., March 31.—(AP)—Speaking at the third Georgia congressional district Legion meeting here today, Delacey Allen, Albany, state commander, urged Legionnaires to division to take an active part in civic affairs.

The Legion head said 65,000 children in the state receive less than five months of instruction annually and 190,000 less than eight months. Americans was selected as the city for the district and the series. Delegates from the various posts in the district unanimously endorsed the proposal to make Ingersoll Hill, in Phenix City, Ala., a national park with a memorial to the site of the battle of the War Between the States.

Rain Will Continue And Mercury Descend

Showers which disrupted Atlanta's week-end sports program will continue throughout today and be accompanied by a drop in temperatures, according to the local weather bureau.

Temperatures will range between 60 degrees this morning to a high of 60 degrees this afternoon, as compared with the temperatures Sunday, which ranged between 61 and 74 degrees. In the 24-hour period from 7 o'clock Saturday night until the same time Sunday night, 39 inch of rain fell in the Atlanta vicinity. The bulk of the rain fell early Sunday morning.

3 GEORGIA WOMEN HURT NEAR RINGGOLD

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 31.—(AP)—Mrs. Wiley W. Logan, 65, of Griffin, Ga., sustained a fractured right leg when a car in which she and a party of three were riding skidded from the highway and overturned near Ringgold, Ga., early this afternoon.

Mrs. John W. Harris, 50, of Stone Mountain, and Mrs. E. F. Harris, 50, of Griffin, who were also passengers in the car driven by the latter's husband, received minor bruises and lacerations.

A Chattanooga ambulance brought the injured women here.

THOMASVILLE BULL WINS NATIONAL HONORS AS SIRE

ATHENS, Ga., March 31.—(AP)—A Jersey bull, Brampton Standard Sir, owned by Pebble Hill plantation, of Thomasville, has qualified as a "test sire" with the highest average for his daughters ever made by a Georgia bull, according to information received here from the American Jersey Cattle Club, the official registry for the breed.

The Pebble Hill plantation bull's first ten tested daughters averaged 670.39 pounds of butterfat, and 11,928 pounds of milk in one year, the records show, and the production of three of his daughters has qualified him for the silver medal award of the breed.

Another daughter of this famous bull has milked seven gallons of milk in one day, in official tests.

In competition at livestock shows, Brampton Standard Sir has been awarded grand championship honors at 12 outstanding shows, and on 15 other occasions he has won first prize blue ribbons. Twice his progeny have won him first prize in shows in classifications of this kind, and year after year have won many blue ribbons for Pebble Hill plantation.

State Deaths And Funerals

MRS. JOHN E. WEBB.—Funeral services for Mrs. John E. Webb, wife of the pastor of the First Baptist church, of Columbus, who died here last night, will be held at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon at Hartwell, Ga., her former home.

CHARLES COLLIER.—Charles Collier, 64, former resident of Barnevill, died at his home in Chattanooga, Tenn., Sunday night. Mr. Collier had had influenza early in the spring, and never fully recovered from the effects.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Lillian Walker, of Atlanta; a son, Charles J. Collier, of Barnevill; and a daughter, Mrs. L. A. Collier, and Riley Collins, of Thomasville; and a nephew, Mr. Collier, of Barnevill. The body was brought to Barnevill Sunday and is in the family home in Monroe county.

J. T. HARRISON.—Funeral services were held here Saturday afternoon for J. T. Harrison, 58, who died Friday night at the home of his sister, Mrs. Katie Lee Hart, near Americus. He was a member of the First Baptist church, of Americus. Rev. John R. Joyner, pastor of American Central Baptist congregation, conducted the burial services, assisted by Rev. J. Agerton, of Preston, and interment was in Friendship cemetery.

Trade Trend in Georgia Shown In Commerce Department Report

WASHINGTON, March 31.—In the report of a study of the location of small and large retail outlets in rural and urban places, the Department of Commerce has just issued its first statement, which deals with Georgia, according to information furnished Senator Walter E. George on the subject. The research is designed to show the location of farm supplies stores constituting 87 per cent of the stores of this character are located in small towns and rural areas and these did 74 per cent of the state's business in their field. Only 12 per cent of apparel stores are located in towns of 2,500, or less, and these did less than 4 per cent of the state's business. Georgians eat at home, largely, according to the figures, not eating place in towns of less than 2,500 population had as much as $10,000 in business for the year.

Macon Worsted Mill Bought for $40,000

MACON, Ga., March 31.—(AP)—Purchase of the Adams-Swirls Cotton Mill here for $40,000 in cash and immediate establishment of a new industry in Macon by an eastern concern was announced by Wallace Miller, of the local law firm of Lowrey & Miller.

The Uxbridge Worsted Company, of Uxbridge, Mass., bought the plant outright from the First National Bank of Chicago, holder of the stock, and will remodel the mill and put it into operation at once, it was announced. Representatives of the company said that approximately 150 Georgia people will be employed in the manufacturing unit here to begin with. While it was not definitely stated what amount of money will be involved in the payment of wages, it was said that the expected pay roll would be "substantial."

Henry T. Moseley Passes at Toccoa

TOCOCA, Ga., March 31.—Henry T. Moseley, 64, prominent Stephens county merchant and chairman of county commissioners, died at his home here last night after an illness of about two weeks. Mr. Moseley had undergone an operation about 10 days ago and his condition steadily improved until two or three days ago. At the time of his death he was vice president of the Bank of Toccoa and was engaged in business operations covering the whole of Stephens county. He had been a county commissioner a number of years. Mr. Moseley was reared in Rabun county but had spent practically all his life in Toccoa. He regularly attended the First Baptist church and was very active in the Kiwanis Club. Surviving him are his wife and one brother, Eugene Moseley, of Clayton, Ga. Funeral services will be held at the First Baptist church in Toccoa at 2:30 p. m. Monday, with interment at the Toccoa cemetery.

Jackson Rites Held For Judge Dempsey

JACKSON, Ga., March 31.—(AP)—Funeral services were held here today for Judge T. J. Dempsey, 83, who died Thursday at his home in Macon, after a distinguished career in both the Baptist church and the law. The Rev. Roy L. Etheridge, pastor of the First Methodist church, of Jackson, officiated. He was buried beside his wife in a career included official positions of councilman, mayor, legislator and jurist. He also distinguished himself as a lay-preacher in the Baptist church, to which he was a devoted member.

SECRETARIES TO MEET IN GRIFFIN MAY 31

MACON, Ga., March 31.—(AP)—John L. Morris, manager of the Macon Chamber of Commerce and president of the Georgia Association of Commercial Secretaries, today announced the date for the Georgia convention as May 31 and June 1 in Griffin.

Mr. Morris was joined here today by C. G. Holland, president of the Danville, Va., Chamber of Commerce, and A. A. Booth, manager. Tomorrow they will go to Ocala, Fla., to attend the annual session of the Southern Association of Commercial Secretaries, when Mr. Morris will address the convention on budgets.

WELLS, CAMP, LECRAW TO ADDRESS MEETING

Communitarian activities in schools, colleges, and communities will be discussed by civic and educational leaders at 7:30 o'clock tonight at a meeting of the Men of Justice in the Georgian room of the Henry Grady school.

Jeré A. Wells, superintendent of Fulton county schools; Lawrence Camp, United States district attorney; and Walter L. Caw, assistant solicitor-general, will be the principal speakers, each discussing communism from his point of view. R. D. McDowell, secretary of the Men of Justice, urged members to attend. The meeting is open to women and school and college students.

SAVANNAH OPENS STOCK SALE TODAY

Finer Cattle Will Be Shown With Large Cash Turn-Over Seen.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 31.—(AP)—Dozens of fine beef cattle started arriving here today for the opening of the fourth annual Savannah fat stock show and sale tomorrow and Tuesday.

C. F. Patten, of Millen, owner of the grand champion steer, at the first show in 1932, arrived with 62 head of the stock. Other owners were on the ground with smaller strings, but of just as fine quality. C. G. Woodruff, Chatham county agent, said that at least 25 per cent of the cattle to be shown here would be better than the winners of last year's show.

Approximately 700 head of cattle will be shown here, and it is expected that the sale on Tuesday will put in circulation about $50,000 in this section. Two leading Savannah banks have made special arrangements to have representatives on the ground at the show to assist buyers with financial details incident to the payment for the cattle.

Members of the Savannah livestock development committee under whose auspices the show is held, said that feed costs may have something to do with the number of fine cattle for sale at this time. However, Mr. Patten, who has the largest number of cattle at the show, said he had solved the feed problem with lespedeza, a fast-growing hay which he said he had planted with fine results, tending toward a solution of the feed problem.

Between 75 and 100 boys will compete tomorrow in the junior competition in stock judging. The main judging will be held Tuesday with the sale of stock following.

Among the exhibitors already here are: C. C. Hiers, Patterson, 25 steers; Jordan Flannery, Swainsboro, 15 steers; J. Knight, Sifton, 11 steers; W. C. Bryant, Fairfax, S. C., 18 steers; Log Cabin plantation, at Ridgeland, S. C., 11 steers. Colonel E. B. Weatherly, of Cochran, seven Angus bulls; From Brothers, Maryville, Tenn., five Angus bulls and seven Angus cows; Neel Trask, of Burton, S. C., three Polled Hereford Bulls by Alvin W. Neely, of Waynesboro, one Polled-Hereford bull and three horned Hereford cows.

Five hundred seniors of 87 accredited high schools in Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Tennessee will take a competitive examination today for the scholarship offered annually by the Emory University Lummel Association.

First-place awards are for $300 to be applied on tuition for two school years, and second-place awards pay tuition for one freshman year, according to Dr. J. Harris Purks, chairman of the association's committee on scholarships. The winners of the contest will be announced May 1, Dr. Purks said.

Twenty-four scholarships will be awarded in Georgia, ten firsts and ten seconds going to the winners of first and second places in ten geographical districts in the state, and two scholarships going to the two highest men in the state and two largest in the type will be awarded in Florida, three each in Alabama, and one each in Tennessee.

Entries are made by high schools rather than by individual students. Examinations will be given at year school which has applied.

The examinations are designed to determine the preparation of high school graduates for college according to Dr. Purks. The results of last year's contest indicate that the tests tend to select the "all-round" type, rather than the "book-worm" type, he said.

installation has been under way for several weeks.

Under the new system, outgoing and building calls will be handled automatically, while the courthouse operators will continue to handle incoming calls, which constitute 40 per cent. of the total. Total communications calls constituting 10 per cent. of the total will be handled directly by the caller, which will relieve the operators of a tremendous amount of work.

Another outstanding improvement is the fact that outgoing service will be available on all telephones at all hours regardless of whether or not the telephone is in the courthouse system only 36 of the 158 stations in the courthouse system had service from 6 p. m. to 8 a. m. and on Saturdays and holidays.

ALAMEDA, Cal., March 31.—(P)—The clipper Pioneer, Pan-American Airways' giant flying boat, arrived today from San Diego to begin flights preliminary to establishment of trans-pacific commercial air service.

With Captain Edwin Musick in command, the 19-ton aircraft made a leisurely trip today up the coast to San Francisco bay from where, early in April, it will hop for Hawaii.

The "27 Club Forum" for the month of April will be in the form of a debate between Clark University and Clark College on the subject of disarmament. "Resolved, that all nations should agree to prevent the international shipment of arms and munitions." This will be a non-decision debate. Dr. Schermerhorn will be in charge of the Clark team and Professor Seaman will be in charge of the Clark College team. Music will be furnished by the two schools.

Because of the state of the diplomatic mind the world over, the subject around which this discussion is being held is of current moment and has great potential educational values.

Tuskegee Founder's Day

BUCHAREST, Rumania, March 31. —A violently worded anti-Semitic manifesto was issued today by 11 former cabinet ministers of Rumania denouncing the introduction of racial discrimination measures in all forms of Rumanian activity.

The manifesto came in the wake of a clash last night between Jewish students and ultra-nationalist undergraduates of the university who raided a Jewish hall, smashed windows and roughly handled the dancers.

The current measures advocated would include all trade and industry, government offices and the free professions.

Last night's incident climaxed a series of anti-Semitic outbursts

RUBBER WORKERS BALLOT ON STRIKE

Goodyear Vote Precedes
Next Sunday's Count at Firestone, Goodrich.

AKRON, Ohio, March 31.—(AP)—Union workers of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company cast ballots today on whether to strike, after loudly cheering speakers who urged that a strike be called.

The balloting took place at the headquarters of the Goodyear local of the United Rubber Workers' Union, where the members were told they could have the full support of the American Federation of Labor.

At a mass meeting of union workers of the Firestone and Goodrich plants, about 1,000 heard other speakers urge a strike and cheered at each mention of a strike vote.

Union works of Goodrich and Firestone will vote next Sunday on whether to strike.

The unions have demanded that the three major tire concerns, which employ about 35,000 workers, sign an agreement with the union locals. The companies have refused written agreements, declaring the unions represent only a small minority.

At another meeting today, about 300 wives of rubber workers in the Goodyear and other plants assembled to voice their opposition to a strike.

Union leaders said the ballot boxes for Goodyear workers will be kept open until Tuesday night to give all union members a chance to vote. It was indicated the official result would not be announced immediately.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—(AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, tonight accused the country's largest tire makers of responsibility for a "bad situation" in the factories at Akron, Ohio, where a strike of rubber workers threatens.

The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, cited for alleged violation of the recovery act passed by the National Labor Relations board, "could prevent a strike if it would follow the decision of the board," asserted Green.

"The others," he continued, referring to the E. P. Goodrich and Goodyear tire and rubber companies, "are in the same boat. The facts are the same in each case."

Racing Thriller Shown On Screen at Capitol

"Red-Hot Tires"—and are they red—this reviewer as the best thriller of the season. Unlike those of these speedy breathers, this film in addition to fiery action has a good solid plot for a story which is interesting throughout, and its well-acted.

Lyle Talbot and Mary Astor make a fine team as a daredevil racer and, believe it or not, a female racing mechanic, and the picture is a design of villain who pulls a nefarious race track trick to his own undoing is thoroughly demoralized. Much class is added by the presence in the cast of Frankie Darro, who gets better and better with each juvenile role he essays.

Speed courses from Dayton to Rio de Janeiro are shown, and there are spills enough to satisfy the most blood-thirsty.

Notwithstanding the fact that she wears jumpsuits, overalls and tinkers with engines, Mary Astor is quite charming and you couldn't blame the daredevil for going to another's throat, and tires, for her hand. The hero has his ups and downs, and after being doublecrossed at the track by his rival lands up in the house, from whence an amusing sidekick rescues him just in time to escape a pardon.

The film carries him to South America for new laurels, and a nice bit of exotic atmosphere comes in. The final race at Dayton is a super-drama, with a delightful piece of humor presented as a cop wonders how he's going to arrest a man going at 140 miles an hour on whom he has a bet!

The stage show is excellent.

Japan 'Cannot Think' Of German Alliance

TOKYO, April 1.—(Monday)—(AP)—A foreign office spokesman said today Japan has points of sympathetic contact with European powers seeking agreements to counteract Adolf Hitler's rearmament and "we cannot think of any alliance with Germany."

Eiji Amano, the spokesman, avoided committing Japan to adherence either to the former European allies or to Germany but said there would be no far-eastern Locarno pact (said to have been considered in Anglo-Russian conversations).

He declared Japan is ready to discuss with Soviet Russia some degree of demilitarization of far eastern frontiers, and that Japan considers her 1907 entente with France still valid, although "of rather vague significance" since the World War.

ahead with building up a European security arrangement on the basis of the London peace plan, a joint communique announced tonight.

The first official account of the joint conference was issued as Eden was leaving for Warsaw to continue his peace tour, followed a new blast at Germany in the soviet press with the sharp warning that the reich has plans for revenge on France, Belgium and Czechoslovakia.

Tonight's communique said all parties in the conference finished yesterday with the opinion that "it is more than ever necessary to pursue the endeavor to promote the building up of a system of collective security in Europe as contemplated in the Anglo-French communique of February 3 and in conformity with the League of Nations."

The communique said Russia and England found "that there was at present no conflict of interests between the two governments and that this fact provides a firm foundation for development of fruitful collaboration between them in the cause of peace."

League Emphasized.

Particular emphasis was placed upon the League of Nations. The communique said Eden had informed Litvinoff concerning his talks with Hitler in Berlin and that "it was agreed that these talks had helped to clarify the European situation."

The official Russian press declared Hitler turned down all the proposals put forth by the British in the Berlin discussions.

The communique, in the opinion of observers, indicated that the British were ready to lend their support to a European security arrangement.

Whether Germany participates or not, it made clear, however, that Germany will have an opportunity to enter the arrangement if it wishes.

"It was emphasized in the conversations (with Eden) by Stalin, Molotov and Litvinoff," said the communique, "that the organization of security in eastern Europe and the proposed pact of mutual assistance do not aim at isolation or encirclement of any state but at the creation of equal security for all participants and that the participation in the pact of Germany and Poland would therefore be welcomed as affording the best solution to the problem."

Michael Tukachevsky, vice commissar of defense, charged in an article published in the newspaper Pravda that Germany had recently pronounced against soviet Russia were screen for concealing Hitler's plans for revenge on France, Belgium and Czechoslovakia.

Attack in East.

The vice commissar warned that France is not prepared to act quickly against a German air attack, estimating that Germany has 2,100 bombers and reconnaissance planes and 1,600 fighting and auxiliary planes, a total of 3,700.

He estimated that the German air force at 60,000 men with another 60,000 in training and said there was talk of plans to increase the number of planes in Germany to 16,000.

He declared Germany this summer would have an army of 849,000, exceeding the French army by 40 per cent and almost as large as the soviet army, which he placed at 940,000.

The vice commissar charged Hitler with "lulling France to sleep" with anti-soviet war talk in the hope France would not realize her own peril and Germany's increasing armaments.

En Route to Warsaw.

His declarations were supported in the London press.

MRS. PELONIA SCHENCK PASSES AT HOME HERE

91-Year-Old Woman Saw
Battle of Atlanta; Old Home
Occupied by Sherman.

Mrs. Pelonia Antoinette Throver Schenck, 91, who witnessed the historic battle of Atlanta and Sherman's march through Georgia, died at 3:30 o'clock Sunday morning at the residence of her granddaughter, Mrs. Charles M. Kessler, of 726 Amsterdam avenue, N. E.

Mrs. Schenck was born near Covington, Ga., and came to Atlanta as a girl of 14 with her parents.

She was in the city when it was stormed by northern troops and after it was conquered her home, the old Throver place near the state capital, was used by the Union army as its headquarters.

It was one of the few houses left standing in the city and was spared because Mrs. Schenck and her family nursed a northern officer during a serious illness.

She was prominent in church work here for years and at the time of her death was a member of the Trinity Methodist church. Years ago she was a member of the group of Sunday school students which organized the St. Paul mission, which now is the St. Paul Methodist church.

Her late husband was Emil Schenck, who operated a machine shop here.

In addition to her granddaughter she is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Charles J. Adair; two sons, E. M. and E. E. Schenck, of Atlanta, and 14 other grandchildren.

Last rites will be conducted by the Rev. W. H. Boring at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning at Spring Hill, and interment will be in Oakland cemetery.

S. S. R.—a country possessing powerful armaments and unlimited opportunities for improving and increasing these armaments."

"It is almost probable," the Journal said, "that under certain circumstances Hitler will prefer other fields of aggression, and an intensified revision of the map of Europe will be started not in the east but in the west."

Ed personally gave the English text of the communique at the British embassy after a late evening talk with Litvinoff at the foreign office.

He dashed through a hall where newspapermen were waiting with a teacup in his hand and invited them into a billiard room, where he considered the text and said he considered it "quite full."

Immediately afterward he went to the Bohol theater to see the first of a series of German ball games, the "Lion" at 10:45 p. m. he caught the train for Warsaw, where he will arrive tomorrow night for conferences and then proceed for Prague and London.

He is expected to return before flying on to London.

8,500,000 MEN SUBJECT
TO CALL FOR TRAINING

LONDON, March 31.—(AP)—British press dispatches said tonight 8,500,000 men are likely to be called up for military training in a new aggressive campaign for a "Germany re-armed."

Young Germans from the class of 1915, totaling 850,000, will report tomorrow for medical examinations at barracks throughout the reich under the military conscription law of March 16, said information received here.

The new defense laws, it was further learned, will announce the creation of a "national council for defense," which General Erich Luitpold is slated to become one of the most influential members, along with Generals Hans von Seeckt, who has been called back from China.

Although no details of how the actual conscription will be carried out have been published, it was learned from a reliable Berlin source that the 550,000 youths of the 1915 class will be called tomorrow and will be enrolled in batches so that their actual joining up will be spread over several weeks.

The brown-shirted storm troop army will not be dissolved, it was learned. It will, however, be shorn of any military character, remaining nevertheless a crack troop organization with sports training whose task it will be wage Germany's political war.

The actual numerical strength of the German armed forces, it is estimated now according to reliable sources is mounting nearer to 750,000 than the 500,000 estimated on March 16. There are to be 21 infantry regiments in every army corps.

At least 300,000 of the 550,000 answering the call tomorrow will be kept under the colors, it was stated, and new barracks thrown up throughout the reich will be ready to house them indefinitely.

It was stated the 1901 class will be called up October 1, 1935, and another class on April 1, 1936.

The British press dispatches in asserting Germany has 8,500,000 men subject to call to the colors said the following figures were taken from the reich statistical yearbook of 1933, by classes:

1901, 436,768 men; 1902, 515,258; 1903, 575,729; 1904, 587,408; 1905, 617,934; 1906, 627,523; 1907, 655,554; 1908, 668,162; 1909, 669,928; 1910, 661,711; 1911, 644,949; 1912, 632,400; 1913, 642,599; 1914, 623,407; 1915, 580,353.

As the climax to a noisy march through the capital's streets they rushed the German legation, where they are threatened by Nazi authorities. Police waited at the legation armed with fire hoses. When the temper of the crowd mounted to the boiling point the gendarmes cut loose with cold streams of water. Dripping students fled.

Fearing further trouble, police threw a cordon around the legation.

relief in the last year. A further upturn during the summer months was forecast.

Some states reported increases in relief burdens, among them Oklahoma, New Hampshire, North Dakota and West Virginia. The relief administration in West Virginia declared the increase in the number of families on relief "alarming," and said expenditures had "radically increased." Officials, it was said, are planning a drive in April to cut down costs and the length of the rolls. Subsidized gardens will be one major means.

GERMANY NON-COMMITTAL TO OPEN PARLEY TUESDAY

WARSAW, March 31.—(AP)—A better understanding of Poland's geographical position—and therefore of her attitude on several vexatious international problems—was listed in authoritative Polish circles tonight as the greatest goal that could come from the visit of Captain Anthony Eden.

The British envoy, arriving tomorrow from Moscow, and Marshal Joseph Pilsudsky, the Polish dictator, will begin their talks on Tuesday.

Poland's geographical position, it was explained, would make clear to the Englishman why this country, situated between heavily armed Russia and heavily armed Germany, opposed like the latter, an eastern security pact.

FLA. SOLONS TO WEIGH SEVEN MAJOR CHANGES

Liquor Control To Take Chief
Role in Proceedings
This Year.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., March 31.—(AP)—Five of the seven constitutional amendments approved by the Florida electorate last November apparently will receive attention by the legislature which opens its twenty-fifth biennial session here Tuesday.

Chief among these is the prohibition repeal amendment by which Florida threw out state-wide prohibition after 16 years. Laws which governed liquor prior to state prohibition again went into effect and under the local option system 48 of the state's 67 counties now are wet. New laws regulating and taxing liquor seem certain of enactment during the session.

Attorney-General Cary D. Landis has recommended that the legislature repeal all existing liquor laws, and start from scratch in fixing a system under which Florida will control intoxicants.

Governor Dave Sholtz is expected to deal with the issue in his message to the legislature Tuesday. The chief problem appears to be whether the state will go into the liquor business through a dispensary system or license and tax private business to handle it.

Other constitutional amendments already passed upon by the people and expected to be given legislative attention are:

1. That providing for homestead tax exemption up to an assessed valuation of $5,000.

2. That authorizing the legislature to enact a system of uniform laws for cities and towns, classifying and grouping them so that in future general bills may be passed to apply to all units in each group.

3. That authorizing the legislature to arrange the state into 15 judicial circuits with one judge for each 50,000 population. The state now has 28 circuits.

4. That authorizing the legislature to give Jacksonville and Duval county the right to say whether their government shall be consolidated into one unit.

5. That permitting state attorneys to file criminal information in all cases except capital cases, thus eliminating much of the need for grand juries.

6. That exempting the motion picture industry from taxation on the property used in actual production of pictures for a period of 15 years dating from this year.

pute, said "we are going to do something tomorrow; we are going to do something about the bill, one way or another."

Secretary Ickes, who last night messaged to President Roosevelt in southern waters a plea to back him in his fight against the wage provision was non-committal today. However, in another high administration quarter it was made clear that Mr. Roosevelt would not make known his views until after he had received full information on the controversy.

Democratic leaders said a break in the stalemate over the relief measure would allow action on other important administration legislation asked by the president.

DEMOCRATS SEE CHICAGO VICTORY

Kelly Will Win by 3-to-1 Majority, Followers Predict.

CHICAGO, March 31.—(AP)—The democratic machine, adjusted to turn out a claimed half million vote majority for Mayor Edward J. Kelly in next Tuesday's city election, slipped into high gear today.

Democracy's hopes, predicting their standard bearer would roll up about three times as many votes as the combined tally of his two opponents, regarded the result as a foregone conclusion. Neutral observers, commentators and some outgroup members of other political faiths agreed that Kelly would retain his post at the head of the city government. They were uncertain only about the number of ballots that would be cast.

But the chief executive's party buckled down to the business of preparing for the greatest vote ever accorded a Chicago mayoralty candidate. With that goal in view, the chiefs rallied their forces at a number of war council meetings. Newton Jenkins, third party leader, and Emil Wetten, republican entrant, took to the air in a last-minute effort to sway the balance of the vote. The last of the campaign in the city's history moved toward a close. There has been no bare, hands nor burning. Most of the electioneering has been carried on in what almost amounted to secrecy for Chicago.

Kelly glanced at the 479,000 ballots marked in his favor in February, the largest vote ever given a mayoralty aspirant in a Chicago primary and decided to stand on his record.

Except for a few appearances at party meetings and one broadcast in which he omitted mention of his candidacy, he devoted virtually all of his time to civic duties. He claimed he had secured funds for construction of new public school buildings, had put the municipality on its fiscal feet, had strengthened the structure of the city government and had established efficiency and economy and had put the crime element on the to-bogon. He set unemployment relief as his next objective, promising to secure a direct grant of $225,000,000 in federal money for his public works program.

Wetten, a lawyer and one-time assistant corporation counsel, and former associate of William Hale Thompson, assailed Kelly for what he termed his failure to eliminate gambling, and vice and to "satisfactorily explain" income tax difficulties with the federal government. He has carried on without the active support of the republican organization and without the aid of a war chest.

Jenkins, another harristler long identified with progressive movements, devoted much of his time to calling upon Wetten to retire from the field. He polled 406,000 votes as an unsuccessful candidate for the republican senatorial nomination in 1932. But he, too, had little organized backing.

Both of Kelly's opponents ran on what they term "reform" platforms. Their main hope is the "stay-at-home" vote and democratic wheel-horses figured they will do just that so far as Wetten and Jenkins are concerned.

Liberty League Hits Code Price Fixing

WASHINGTON, March 31.—(AP)—A charge that price fixing "causes the most vicious inflation" and a suggestion that in extending the NRA, congress incorporate restrictions upon the use of price control devices were made today by the American Liberty League.

"Price fixing," the league bulletin said, "whether by government or by combinations within industries, cause the most vicious inflation because government-fixed prices are bound to be high enough to sustain the inefficient, while giving excessive rewards to the efficient."

Honest competition, the league said, cannot exist under a regime of fixed prices. The league said "price controls under codes have aggravated and prolonged the depression," and that "an early decision on the constitutionality of the National Industrial Recovery Act is highly desirable."

20 Dead, 50 Missing In Adriatic Storm

ANCONA, Italy, March 31.—(AP)—Twenty fishermen were known to be dead today and 50 were missing in a raging storm on the Adriatic sea which has continued since early yesterday.

Authorities announced this morning a minimum of 20 dead, with the probability that many more will be added to the total before a final count is made.

Destroyers were scouring the seas for 20 motorboats, sailing and fishing boats which have failed to show up. Their crews total 80.

ATLANTA RESERVES INSTALL OFFICERS WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Installation of newly elected officers of the fifth congressional district chapter, Reserve Officers' Association, will be made at a meeting Wednesday night, it was announced Sunday by Lieutenant Charles A. Stanley, who was re-elected secretary for the 1935-1936 term. A short business session will follow a dinner at the Elks' Club at 6:30 p. m. and the officers will meet later at Georgia Tech, where they will formally take over the chapter.

First Lieutenant Al J. Martin was elected president to succeed Lieutenant Colonel A. G. Conoley; Major D. W. Winfree was named vice president and Lieutenant Colonel Chester E. Martin, junior vice president.

Other officers elected are: Lieutenant S. N. Malone, treasurer; Lieutenant Colonel Arthur Clifton, Major Joseph R. Cooke, Major Charles S. Gardner, Major Charles Hammond, Major J. Walter LaCraw and Major Forrest Hill, state councilors; Lieutenant Colonel A. G. Conoley, Lieutenant Colonel Forville McWhorter, Major Ray Collier, Major Paul R. Woodard and Captain Bernard Dorobait, executive committee.

Regular army officers composing the committee of contacts include Lieutenant Colonel Gilbert Marshall, in charge of reserve affairs in Georgia; Major Clifford J. Mathews, Major Edward G. Herlihy and Captain E. R. Bowdoin.

Time-Worn 'Jokes' of Pranksters Await Unwary on April Fool Day

Minds usually confined to the ordinary channels of business and proper conduct are awry today in pursuit of that Puckish something-or-other designed to terminate in a bellicose exclamation of "April Fool."

This is All Fools Day, numerous tricks will advise Atlantans of the course of the day. Pocketbooks will lie on sidewalks unclaimed. Office memoranda will remain on desks untouched, for all are wary.

Undoubtedly, office desks will be cluttered with notes to call Miss Fisch, at Vernon 9163, which is the number of the bathhouse at Piedmont park, or Mr. Fox, at Main 5580, which, unless memory fails, is the telephone number of "Uncle" Mat Leonard, keeper of the Grant Park zoo.

Those practical jokers will revel in the rights offered them by this day. It is the one big day of the year for the fellow who gets a big laugh out of guile together the pages of the telephone book and who pulls chairs out from under people as they are preparing to sit down. It is the day the smart-aleck is licensed to exhibit his bag of wares without criminal prosecution and without grave danger of personal assault.

Some day, some person with the milk of human kindness flowing in his veins will compile a list of "don'ts" for the guidance of peaceful citizens on April 1. The list will be headed, no doubt, by a notation to avoid gift cigars, for they might blow up in the face of the giftee.

Where all the April Fool foolishness started, no one seems to know for certain. It is believed that it had its beginning during the vernal equinox which began March 25, and ended April 1. However, no matter where it started, or how it started, Americans find relief in the knowledge that Scotchmen and Frenchmen also observe the day to give vent to that desire to perform a prank which on other days would be considered an evidence of a speedily departing mind.

Incidentally, the number of the weather bureau is Walnut 6745, just in case you find it on your pad in a notation to call Mr. Wynd, Mr. Raines today.

Failure To Send Pay Check Home Lands Dancing Twins in Jail Here

The DeLeo twins, Lillian, 17, and Violet, 17, Sunday night were occupying a cell at the city jail which for 24 hours they had paced in speechless wonder that their father, Joseph DeLeo, of Baltimore, could have ordered them held by police because they failed to remit a weekly pay check.

The twins, who dance and sing songs, and who were to appear on the stage at the Capitol theater this week, were arrested early Sunday morning by Detective E. S. Acree, who usually trails down yeggmen and other hardened criminals.

Detective Acree acted on a telegram from the girls' father, Joseph DeLeo, of Baltimore, who requested that the girls be arrested and held for him. He is due to arrive in Atlanta some time today.

The telegram was sent, the girls' mother said, because payments promised her by the manager of the troupe in which the girls are traveling have not been forthcoming.

The troupe manager explained to a Constitution reporter that the performers "had a bad week a couple of weeks ago," and that though all hotel bills were paid, he had been unable to pay salaries, and would reimburse the performers following the Atlanta engagement.

The parents wanted the girls returned to their home at Baltimore, they said, because of the current difficulties with the manager.

In the meantime, Violet and Lillian were pacing their narrow cell in the Atlanta city jail asking each other

U. S. To Pay $304,891 For New Forest Land

The expenditure of $304,891.35 for land to be added to national forests in the south has been authorized by the National Forest Reservation Commission in Washington, Joseph C. Kircher, regional forester, said Sunday.

Session Best in Years, Says John Hammond

Senate Secretary Says He Never Saw a More Industrious State Assembly.

John W. Hammond, secretary of the state senate and veteran in legislative circles as a newspaperman, expressed the belief Sunday that the 1935 session of the Georgia general assembly was the most constructive one in more than a generation.

"I have been in constant touch with every session of the general assembly of Georgia more than 20 years, and at no time before have I ever seen as industrious a session as the recent one," Hammond said in a statement today. "Certainly no group has ever more earnestly gone about their business from first to last."

"Taken as a whole, I believe the session just closed has been the most eventful and probably the most constructive one in more than a generation."

More than 600 bills and resolutions passed by the two branches of the assembly went to the governor for his review. There were 991 bills and 543 resolutions introduced and handled in the house; in the senate there were 256 bills and 131 resolutions.

Governor Talmaidge passed upon 684 legislative papers—543 from the house and 141 from the senate.

"That in itself establishes a record," Hammond said.

"In the mass of bills and resolutions passed is some of the most important constructive legislation in the state's history . . . particularly with reference to proposals which will enforce a revision of the state's present system of taxation."

"When the people of Georgia have had time to digest what has been done by their representatives in the assembly in 1935, weigh the benefits, I firmly believe there will be a general spirit of commendation."

Aside from his work as secretary of the senate, Hammond conducts a news bureau in Atlanta for the Macon Telegraph.

Mrs. Boyd Dons 'Befo de Wah' Costumes To Wear at Natchez Social Affairs

By Sally Forth.

NATCHEZ, with its white pillared mansions set in the midst of age-old gardens, proved the mecca for Mrs. Verdery Rosenbusch Boyd, who entertained yesterday for the picturesque city overlooking the Mississippi river. Listed among the interesting visitors attending the opening of the gardens in Natchez, Mrs. Boyd will prove an admired figure, as the guest of Mrs. Caroline Anderson at the ancestral Radcliffe residence.

Borrowing a fashion note from the lovely ladies of yesteryear, residents and visitors will attend the numerous affairs attired in the hoop skirts and gay costumes worn so gracefully by ladies "befo de wah." Mrs. Boyd has selected a group of exquisite ante-bellum costumes which will offset her brunet charm.

Claiming interest in a blue tulle afternoon gown ornamented with an array of pleated ruffles, a panel fashioned of lace and net adorns the front of the gown and the puffed sleeves add interest. The skirt, posed over a graceful hoop, will swing with the rhythm of Mrs. Boyd's steps as she traverses the paths through flower gardens planted in the sixties.

For evening, there is a flame-colored net trimmed with sprays of pink and blue flowers. With this gown Mrs. Boyd will wear a ring, earrings and necklace set with antique turquoise. A peach brocade taffeta forms an interesting addition to her attire and she will wear her treasure. Wedding camos. The valued jewelry was once the property of Mrs. Boyd's great-grand-aunt. The necklace, a single cameo with a pearl pendant, ring, and hand-seed pearl earrings, will form the most perfect accessories for the exquisite costume.

A WHISPER is going the rounds that a charming matron leaves this week for Reno. She will have her marital bonds "put asunder" through legal procedure in Nevada.

The rumor goes that when she obtains her divorce she will wed one of the most eligible of Atlanta bachelors. Sally cannot inform you whether her children will or will not accompany her on her mission to become Renovated.

IT'S a small world after all, according to Frances Morrison, of Indianapolis, Ind., who's spending the spring holidays with her Holins College classmate, Rebecca Young. Rebecca, you know, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lane Young. Soon after their arrival, the young college belle, during the early afternoon, it was Frances' first visit south and of course to see someone she knew was farthest from her thoughts.

Suddenly the two girls saw a handsome young man emerge from the driveway. It was not a stranger, happened to be the son of a dear friend of Frances' mother in Indianapolis. He is likewise from the Indiana city and was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Black who reside just next door to the Youngs. It was a coincidence with all the story-book background that neither knew of the other's presence in Atlanta.

Mr. and Mrs. Kline Compliment Visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Chamberlin, of Bethlehem, Pa., spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kline at their home, "Bellmonte," on Peachtree Battle avenue.

These important visitors were entertained at a round of parties during their stay last Saturday. A. E. King and Mrs. Kline entertained at an appetizer party at their home. Afterward Mr. and Mrs. Kline entertained Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlin and Mrs. Norman Coudelle and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kalkhurst at the dinner-dance at Brookhaven, the Capital City Country Club.

Mrs. Chamberlin is the cousin of Mr. Kline, and she and Mr. Chamberlin left Sunday to continue their motor trip to points of interest in the south.

Miss Mary Holcombe And John W. McKee Married on Saturday

The marriage of Miss Mary Virginia Holcombe and John Windsor McKee was solemnized on Saturday afternoon, March 30, at the Gordon Street Presbyterian church, with the Rev. Harold Shields officiating.

Before the ceremony Earl Landers sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Adolf Widmayer. The altar of the church was banked with palms and graced with pedestals of pink and white snapdragons. On either side of the pulpit were seven-branched candelabra holding white burning tapers.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Dorothy Holcombe, who preceded her down the aisle. She was gown in pink lace, made floor length, and featuring a shoulder cape with rhinestone fastenings. She wore an off-the-face hat of the same material as her gown. She carried pink roses.

The bride entered on the arm of her father, Grover C. Holcombe, to the strains of the Bridal March from "Lohengrin." Her brunette beauty was enhanced by her bridal gown of white lace, featuring a slight train. The shoulder cape was outlined in hand-made chiffon roses. She wore an off-the-face hat of white lace, and carried an arm bouquet of white lilies. She was met at the altar by the groom, whose only attendant was David Barron, of Marietta, Ga.

After the impressive service the Mendelssohn "Wedding March" was used as the recessional. The ushers were Joe Slaton and Jack Slaton, Tom Hines and Charles Lester.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Cleveland Holcombe, of Atlanta, and the groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. McKee, of Ellijahwood, Ga.

The bride's going away costume was a Queen Mary blue, with accessories to match. After a short wedding trip the young couple will be at home to their many friends at 750 Cascade place, West End.

MAIDEN VOYAGE

By Kathleen Norris

INSTALLMENT XXIV.

"You mean he hadn't talked?"

"Nope. We thought it was best to handle it this way," Fitch said complacently. "I sent a man over to talk real estate with Opps this morning at half-past eleven. Opps has some interest in a development called Paradise Oaks over there. This fellow suggested that he drive out with Opps to see the place; that's why he wasn't in his office when you were talking to his assistant."

"Oh, but I lied to her," Tony began in a hard voice.

"You got your story, and that's all the call expects of you," Frank Fitch said smoothly. "Thank you!" He closed his door.

She and Greeny were out in the city room now, Tony looked at the man who had been his boss for a long time.

"She'll lose her job," she said breathing hard. "Is that fair, Greeny?"

"Aw, shucks, what's the diff?" Greeny pleaded. "That's the way Fitch has got where he is. Opps had no business to do it and if he gets hell for it it's coming to him!"

Tony went to her desk and sat down. She felt sick. Indecently she tried to bring her mind to her social notes; it was no use. She had been absorbed in her assignment all afternoon; she had run down his story for Fitch, whom she despised, and in doing so had injured, perhaps ruined, a harmless nervous hard-working woman of forty, who had believed in her and listened to her and taken her advice—and even, and Tony writhed to remember, had offered her a little mashed caramels in a paper bag!

The next day passed in a dreamy unreality. There was no word from the Call. Tony went downtown to the newspaper's business office and asked for the man who had been his boss for a long time.

"The funny thing about a job is," Tony mused, "that when you're in, you feel so insecure. And when you're out and job-hunting, you feel like a beggar again!"

"It's true," Cliff smiled over his shoulder. "But Greenwood'll send for you tomorrow. They won't let you go like that. What does Mr. Bellamy think of this sort of thing? Did he know they'd tricked you into it?"

"Larry's in Los Angeles. No, he wouldn't know about that. It was just one of Frank Fitch's bright ideas."

"You'll see, Tony. Greenwood will send for you tomorrow."

"I'll not go to see him," Tony declared. But she knew in her heart that she would. She was already disenchanted with her job, and she was already disenchanted with her boss.

The next day passed in a dreamy unreality. There was no word from the Call. Tony went downtown to the newspaper's business office and asked for the man who had been his boss for a long time.

"The funny thing about a job is," Tony mused, "that when you're in, you feel so insecure. And when you're out and job-hunting, you feel like a beggar again!"

"It's true," Cliff smiled over his shoulder. "But Greenwood'll send for you tomorrow. They won't let you go like that. What does Mr. Bellamy think of this sort of thing? Did he know they'd tricked you into it?"

"Larry's in Los Angeles. No, he wouldn't know about that. It was just one of Frank Fitch's bright ideas."

"You'll see, Tony. Greenwood will send for you tomorrow."

"I'll not go to see him," Tony declared. But she knew in her heart that she would. She was already disenchanted with her job, and she was already disenchanted with her boss.

Perma-Rite, Scientifically-Balanced Ink, Assures Positive Permanency

FLUID UNAFFECTED
BY ACIDS OR TIME
INTRODUCED HERENew Product, Perfected
After Years of Experimentation, Stands Most Severe of Tests.

Perma-Rite, a scientifically-balanced writing fluid which combines the best features of all nationally recognized inks and which, in addition to the permanency its name indicates, cannot be removed from paper by chemicals or any natural element, has just been introduced to the business world by the Perma-Rite Manufacturing Company, which has established its manufacturing plant and offices at 155 Nassau street, N. W.

Perma-Rite is said by leading chemists to be the first entirely satisfactory chemical-proof ink to be placed on the market, because it is not only absolutely indelible but it also is free-flowing and non-corrosive in fountain pens—qualities which heretofore have not been found in indelible inks.

After many years of tedious and intensive laboratory research and experimentation, the developer of Perma-Rite emphasizes the fact that he has successfully eliminated, one by one, in the new product, every major defect which appears in the more widely known inks on the market.

These claims are unreservedly borne out in reports from distinguished but disinterested chemical analysts of several of the foremost southern universities, who in recent weeks have subjected Perma-Rite to the most rigid tests possible. These tests, it is pointed out, have been made in accordance with requirements of the Federal Specifications Board, United States Bureau of Standards.

These tests, in brief, have proven that Perma-Rite will not fade, that it is both chemical-proof and absolutely waterproof, that it is non-corrosive, and that it is free-flowing and fast-drying. In addition, it is non-setting and hence non-clogging. In short, Perma-Rite can never be destroyed without destroying the paper on which it is written.

Of perhaps the most amazing of the Home of Makers of Perma-Rite

The Perma-Rite Manufacturing Company, with manufacturing plant and offices in this modern building at 155 Nassau street, N. W., has just introduced Perma-Rite, a distinctive, scientifically balanced ink which is not only chemical-proof, waterproof and non-corrosive, but which is unaffected by light rays, heat or cold. This new product, which also is free-flowing and quick-drying, combines the best features of all the best-known writing fluids and, at the same time, is without the major defects shown in others. Thus, it provides absolute permanency in written records—long a problem unsolved in the conduct of business.

Laboratory tests of Perma-Rite, one of the chemical analysts several days ago said: "When compared with four nationally advertised, so-called permanent inks, Perma-Rite was the only one which could be plainly read after being soaked in acids for a 24-hour period."

In another actual laboratory test, records written in Perma-Rite were soaked in water for weeks, and when taken out were as clear and legible as when first written.

Still other laboratory tests have proven Perma-Rite not to be adversely affected by light rays, heat or cold. It has been subjected to ultra-violet rays equal in intensity to 100 years of direct sunlight without fading.

Perma-Rite, the laboratory tests have shown, is 50 per cent less corrosive than the least corrosive of other leading inks on the market. Its users never need fear the corrosive action which so quickly destroys steel pens, and which ruins composition inkwells.

From the standpoint of penetration, Perma-Rite has been declared to be more rapid-drying by five seconds than one nationally known brand whose

OVERALL LAUNDRY
APPOINTS MURPHY
AS ITS MANAGERHarry Rittenbaum An-

sonnel.

Wiley Murphy, for five years connected with the company and for long a close student of the most approved laundering methods, has just been appointed manager of the Atlanta Overall Laundry, 414 Decatur street, S. E., according to Harry Rittenbaum, its general manager.

Mr. Murphy has just returned from an extended trip through the north and east, during which he visited many of the largest and most modern laundries, with a view to more thoroughly acquainting himself with the latest methods, especially as they pertain to work clothes.

The washing and cleaning of overalls, Mr. Murphy points out, requires special formulas and the utmost care, due to the nature of the work, in order to preserve the life of the garment.

During his long service with the Atlanta Overall Laundry, Mr. Murphy has had considerable experience both inside and outside the plant. He is not only widely but most favorably known to countless of the company's customers. The high standard of his work and of his efficiency insure a continuing, under his management, of the finest class of work obtainable.

The Atlanta Overall Laundry, which specializes in the laundering of all types of work clothes, has long been the favorite of workmen in all lines of business and industry, for they have found here just the kind of service they need to keep their work clothing in clean and presentable condition. The company is especially well equipped to handle painters' and mechanics' overalls, and by the application of the most modern and approved scientific methods is able to remove all vestiges of paint, grease, oil and other foreign substances which so quickly soil working clothes.

Besides combination overalls, overalls with suspenders and overall coats, this efficient laundry is prepared to give excellent service on work shirts

First Federal Savings & Loan Association
Offers Easy Financing for Home Builders

This beautiful little home is but one of many whose construction has been financed successfully through long-term loan provisions offered through the First Federal Savings & Loan Association, of Atlanta. This association has available more than $2,000,000 for the financing of home construction, repayable over terms as long as 18 years. Monthly repayments may be arranged as low as $7.57 per $1,000, simple interest being computed at 6 per cent.

The First Federal Savings & Loan Association of Atlanta, which predicts the spring months will usher in a spirited revival in the building trades, is offering to home owners and home builders the most convenient as well as the cheapest method of home financing.

The First Federal Savings & Loan Association, it is pointed out, has available more than $2,000,000 for the financing of homes in Atlanta. These funds are being loaned on terms of repayment extending over periods as long as 18 years, with monthly repayments as low as $7.57 per $1,000.

This loan plan is called the "direct reduction plan of loan," and according to officers of the First Federal provides for charges at the rate of 6 per cent simple interest, readjusted monthly on unpaid balances. The amount of the repayment each month is the same, with a smaller amount going to retire the principal each month.

There are no service charges during the life of the loan, and no other expenses to the borrower except taxes and fire insurance.

The loan contract provides that extra payments may be made at any time and interest will be charged only on the unpaid balance. Likewise, the loan may be entirely paid off at any time.

This type of long-term, monthly repayment, simple interest loan is designed to give the home owner or prospective home owner the chance to build or buy a home, or to pay off his indebtedness in monthly payments less than rent over a long period of time, with the borrower never having the expense or trouble of refinancing his indebtedness.

These loans are being made by the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Atlanta, an institution chartered by the federal government and operating under the direct sponsorship and supervision of the federal

MINUTE MAN GIVES
SERVICE, ECONOMY
TO AUTO OWNERSPopular Peachtree Street
Garage Offers Special
Low-Priced Wash Job to Its Friends.

Few Atlanta motorists can afford to disregard the economical all-inclusive service offered at the Minute-Man Garage, at 942 Peachtree street, which at present, in addition to its manifold other skilled services, is featuring a complete washing job at 50 cents—a rate seldom offered for such high-class work.

Innumerable motorists, within the past few days, have taken advantage of this featured offer and not only have found Minute-Man workmanship of the highest type, but have found opportunity to investigate this popular garage's widely diversified service.

At its front filling station, the Minute-Man Garage renders a complete gasoline and lubrication service, handling Standard gasoline and the finest and most popular brands of lubricants. The station has a special hydraulic, free-wheel type lift which insures proper lubrication work.

In the huge storage and work shop which adjoins the filling station, every facility is provided for efficient and speedy workmanship. In this steam-heated shop are two wash racks, where both hot and cold water are available at all times; a full equipped battery recharging department; two pits for under-body work of all types, and an 80-foot tool and work bench.

The Minute-Man Garage offers wrecker service anywhere in the city from 8 o'clock each morning until 2 o'clock the next morning, and is prepared to handle any repair job begotten to the garage.
